'sailors' on Self Directed Learning journey

5.- 9.9. 2016 Ólafsfjörður

Join us on board and explore innovative educational approach called Self-directed learning (SDL) with us.

Our boat is setting off in the evening 5.9. and anchors at lunch 9.9. We will be sailing through the waters of SDL not only using maps of SDL theory but also experimenting with practical educational tasks helping us get to know ourselves better as educators and learners.

Sounds interesting? read on what you'll get out:

- understand the basic principles of SDL as an educational approach used in facilitation (with the focus on youth work)
- experience the process of SDL
- find ways how to implement the learnt into the practice of facilitators
- reflect on your role as a facilitator so far
- get to know further sources connected to the topic
- network and connect to other facilitators interested in SDL

Still interested? then apply no later than August 26th 2016 by sending an email to us: saralmar@gmail.com
